* Finally, upload this file to the 2019- Colonialism Participants folder with your name on it.

Questions for Session 4 – 31 July 2019

Please review the video of the class Session 4 for the 31th of July. Then look in detail at the Slides for Session 4.

Then, please pause for a moment and consider all that you have learned about European colonialism over the last four successive weeks.

From what you have learned, you should be able by now to formulate some conclusions of your own about the evolving nature of European colonialism over the centuries. Moreover, you should have some sense of the principal characteristics European colonialism has left as a legacy to the entire world.

For this week’s assignment, then, each of you should draw up your own list of what you each think are the seven (7) most important enduring legacies of modern European colonialism. Please develop this list in hierarchical order – starting with the least important and building toward the most important legacy in your view.

We will discuss these ordered lists in class, and you should be prepared to present (and “defend”) the items and the order in which you have ranked them in your list.

When you have had a chance to formulate a title and outline for your “essay,” please save it as a .DOCX file or a .TXT file.

Then “upload:” the file to your online dropbox for this course.
